

Training

International expertise to boost your business.

Standox supports bodyshops with a comprehensive range of training opportunities. With over 40 training academies across 35 countries, business owners and refinishers can broaden their knowledge and become familiar with new techniques.

The range of Standox courses extends from seminars lasting several days, consultations and workshops through to regional events. This is where bodyshop professionals can find precisely the training they urgently need, whatever the subject.

Training with Standox

Standox offers an extensive range of quality training seminars. These workshops are prepared and coordinated by Standox personnel who are nationally accredited workplace Assessors and Trainers, and have vast experience with Standox products and procedures.

Refinish paint technology now and in the future will require the use of high performance products including the latest water-based and High-Solids systems.

The need for training in the use of Standox high performance products and warranty repair processes is essential for the success of any bodyshop.

Seminars are held at our purpose built Information Centre at Riverstone, Sydney, or at other approved centres around Australia and New Zealand.

In a modern comfortable and well equipped environment, students have access to the latest products which include Waterborne, infra-red technology, and the latest in Standox High Performance VR paint products.

Both theoretical seminars and practical workshops are catered for in the Regional Training Centre, which is equipped with a conference room, fully extracted spray booth and a state of the art colour mixing room.

The Centre is a visible example of the company's commitment to the refinish industry and to the provision of first class training programs for both bodyshop staff and management.

For more information on the centre or course schedule please contact your Standox Technical Consultant or distributor.

On-site training.

Whenever it's not possible to train refinishers at a Standox training centre, our technical training staff will work with you to organise customised training courses at your bodyshop. In some countries we have multiple locations where training can be conducted, or alternatively we also conduct training directly in the customer's premises. By contacting your local Standox Technical Consultant suitable arrangements can be made to cater for all customers.

Standox Technical Training – designed by professionals for professionals.

Depending on local requirements, Standox training centres offer different training courses and seminars covering different disciplines.

The Standox training courses on offer cover a wide range of skills and practices, enabling refinishers to do everything from brush up on the basics, to learn specialist techniques, such as three stage colour repairs. There is also a strong emphasis on colour match accuracy with dedicated colouristic and spectrophotometer courses.

Additionally there are a number of additional courses which vary from country to country; these are tailored to the market needs.
